

COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT POLICY

In accordance with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act ("DMCA") (See 17 U.S.C. §512(c)(3)), DPL Financial Partners, LLC ("DPL") has designated an agent to receive notifications of alleged copyright infringement associated with this site. If you believe that your copyrighted work or the copyrighted work of another party is being infringed, please notify our copyright agent:

John Barkeley

Copyright notices must be sent to the foregoing contact. DPL reserves the right not to process notifications that are misdirected or sent to other contacts within DPL, many of which may not be familiar with or prepared to process infringement inquiries.

When notifying DPL of the alleged copyright infringement, you must include all of the following information:

1. A physical or electronic signature of a person authorized to act on behalf of the copyright owner;
2. Identification of the copyrighted work claimed to have been infringed;
3. Identification of the material that is claimed to be infringing and information reasonably sufficient to allow DPL to identify the material;
4. Information reasonably sufficient to allow DPL to contact you (or the complaining party), including an address, telephone number, and, if available, an electronic mail address;
5. A statement that the complaining party has a good faith belief that the use of the material in the manner complained of is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law; and
6. A statement that the information in the notification is accurate, and, under penalty of perjury, that the complaining party is authorized to act on behalf of the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.

Upon receipt of such notice, if DPL determines, after a good faith investigation, that material on its website infringes a copyright or otherwise violates intellectual property rights, DPL will remove or disable access to any such material.

In some instances, DPL might utilize information received from third parties such as you. If you believe that a notice of copyright infringement has been wrongly filed against you regarding material that you have submitted and you would like to submit a counter-notification, you may file a counter-notification in response to the claim of copyright infringement with DPL's copyright agent.

Such counter-notification must include all of the following information.

- Your physical or electronic signature;
- Identification of the content that has been removed or to which access has been disabled and the location at which the content appeared before it was removed or disabled;
- A statement that you have a good faith belief that the content was removed or disabled as a result of a mistake or a misidentification of the content; and
- Your name, address, telephone number, and, if available electronic mail address.

If a counter-notification is received by the copyright agent, DPL may send a copy of the counter-notice to the original complaining party informing that person that it may replace the removed content or cease disabling it in ten (10) business days.

You may want to seek independent legal counsel before filing a notification or counter-notification.
